Hi Happy House sitters,

After feeling totally depressed when a house sitter I had lined up said she was unable to look after our house while we were away, I was really desperate and wasn't sure what we could do only a month to go until our holiday. So, I decided to put the ad on your website, even though I was a bit wary of enlisting a stranger. Anyway, I placed ads on your website and another website to see what would happen. The first website seemed to be that everyone was already booked and I kept getting emails from people saying they were unavailable even though their profile said they were available.

With your website, I was blown away by the amount of replies I got and all of them wanted to sit. I had to then sort through them and pick someone. I felt bad having to then respond to most replies saying we had already found someone. I contacted my house sitter and she came over on Saturday and met with us. We are very happy with how quickly things turned around and the response has been astounding.

Please send me a fridge magnet to – Juliana [REDACTED]

Thanks for setting up such a cool website, I will defiantly use it again.

Regards,

Juliana
