Dear Happy House Sitters

Earlier this year, we were getting very concerned about who would mind our house and more importantly, take care of our cats, during our imminent 7 week overseas honeymoon. With no immediate options of friends of family coming to mind and very limited time to try and figure out how we would go about finding someone by ourselves, a friend mentioned your website. Whilst we were still a little dubious about using a website to find someone trustworthy to love our cats and care for our house in the way we would like, we posted an ad to see what sort of responses we might receive and how the site worked.

We were so pleased with the applications we received, the ease of use and privacy set up of your website that we wanted to pass on our gratitude for providing this service. Thanks to you we found a fantastic couple which meant we had complete peace of mind whilst we were away. Without it, we would don't know how we would have found someone to look after our house and our cats would probably have ended up in a horrible cattery. Hopefully we are fortunate enough in the future to need your services again!

Thanks again
The Honeymooners
